The Portland Press says: The Eastern Miles Insane Hospital is among the application about the State's bounty. Mr. Porter, of Bangor, in the House, Friday, presented an order oreating a lotting to this new hospital. The State ing Committee or Floance is made a part of the joint committee, a fact significant of the instruce of some of the measures likely to be introduced in behalf of the Bangor institution. As there is no deabt of the need of more room for the care of the instruce of some of the Legis lature, an appropriation will probably de second meaded by the joint committee. The State cas spend its monely certainly to much better advantage on a hospital to the langer as appropriation will probably de second the remarkable success and speed with which Mr. Bputelle managed to carry hits great appropriation bill of near y fifty pages and involving the expenditure of over thirty millions of dollars through the turbulence and obstruction in the Mouse, without having it altered in the sightest degree, says it illustrated the mistake manaber's reputation for vigorous and stalmenter's reputation for vigo make by many people in supposing that a member's reputation for vigorous and stalwart maintenance of his political opinions impairs his ability to promote, proper legislation. The writer cites in this connection the fact that although one of the sharpest passages of the last session was between Mr. Bootelle and Mr. Breckinsidge of Kentucky, in which the Maine Congressman was by no means a sufferer, it did not proper the latter from making the following pleasant risponse to the request of the Chairman of the Naval Committee on Monday to close the debate and report the bill favorably to the House:

Mr. Berkk springes of Kentucky. I wish to say in response to the gentleman from Manue two things: First, the gentleman's conduct in charge of the bill has been exceedingly contreous, and I am obliged to him for it. In the second place I no not expect to occupy any of the time in this disjussion and will yield to the five minutes on my motion to the gentleman from New York.

The vote in the city of Hartford is one which calls forth strong denunciation from those who believe in the sanctity of the ballot. There can be no possible exquee or pallitation of the state of the returns from the city. It was only by accident that the true state of affairs was discovmade by many people in supposing that a the polls, in my judgment, than all the inmember's reputation for wigurous and staltimidation that can be imagined to exist in

The vote in the city of Hartford is one which cuits forth strong denunciation from those who believe in the sanctity of the ballot. There can be no possible excuse or palitation of the state of the returns from the city. It was only by accident that the true state of affairs was discovered. There is an excess of 162 votes in those returned for Governor, 147 in those for Licateonant Governor, 127 in those for Secretary of State, 137 in those for Treasurer and 151 in those for Controller. Since all these starting things have been brought to tight by a mere examination of the face of the returns there is a growing feeling that the whole matter of the recent election should be probed to the bottom.

Connecticut is one of the States where it

Connecticut is one of the States where it was said the new ballet law worked most successfully. The above dispatch to the New York Tribune, however, tells a different story. So many startling things have accidentally been discovered that there is now a very pronounced feeling that there should be a thorough investigation of the entire election. If one were to accept in good faith all that has been said by the advocates of the new law all these starting discoveries would seem impossible A secent communication to THE WHIG said that the temptation to fraud on the part of the election officers under the new law was something apalling and the Hartford dispatch confirms this point. Haine cannot do better than to retain her present electoral system.

The northern public are familiar with the accounts of the persecution of C. L. Morrison, postmaster at White Springs, Florids, by the Bourbons of the community in which he lives. When the bullet was fired into his head, which he still carries, he made strenuous efforts to bring the criminals to justice, and succeeded in having the guilty man placed under arrest. So well was the case worked and so complete was the evidence that the Democrats became greatly alarmed, and finally ungent solicitation, prevailed upon Morrison to withdraw the charges, which Morrison to withdraw the charges, which the docket of the court. It was not their intention to let the matter drop, however, for no sooner had he withdrawn h was than more than the court of the court o than Morrison was himself indicted for compounding a felony, and everything was fixed to send him to the turp natine camp. This malicious prosecution of a Government official was promptly taken edgulzance of by the United States authorities, and he was summoned to Jacksonville, where he is now under guard of a ereclal deputy marshal, who attends him whenever he appears in public. The Hamilton County bloudhounds do not give up hope, however, of finalty rulning this, man, whose only offence is that he is a stalwart Republican, and their emission are now watching for a chance to snatch 📥 him from his protectors and hurry him away to the fate which they are determined shall be all him. This is one of the extraordinary methods pursued by the dominant party in Florida to destroy the fearless champion of their political opponexts and the acrimonious and relentless pudualt of this man may yet lead to d fferent results from what they expect. It might be a good thing if dertals so called Republicans in the Senate had to reside for a time in Florida.

No Good Reason for the Change. The Lewiston Journal publishes several letters on the ballot question. One weiter who withholds his name says that for a time the opponents of the bill made ad headway, but its friends have been setting matters right and the tide is now steadily in favor of the bill. Either this writer is sadly misinformed, or he is intentionally misleading the people. The situation is exactly the reverse. In the early days of the pession the advocates of the bill aght to carry it through specessfully by boasting. They claimed that the measure would pass with a rush and that every one was for it. These tactics worken for a tiper, but since then the members have been studying the bill and conferring with their constituents, and the result is that men who were for it, or were undecided, are new strongly oppose to the change. Indeed ten days ago the advocates of the ed that the root view they penturished for its precess work have Tonio-ENGLIS PRILASTINOPICS that it will prevent intimidation and bribery at elections. Now as to the first reason, I have to say that have never known an instance of any voter being prevented from voting in our State from intimidation, and the most carneat, advocates of the measure two years ago admitted that intimidation did not exist in our State, and as to the second reason, the prevention of bribery, I am fally convinced that age as his evil may exist, this change will not prevent it any more than it has in Canada and England and other places where the measure has been in vogue.

THE WHIG AND COUR ER FOR 1891

With the opening of the new year TEE the era of progress and in no respect is this great truth more forcibly illustrated than in the improvements that mark the publication of a newspaper. The live paper to-day is not only the medium through which the reader keeps thinself informed on the current events of the civilized world, but in its literary features combines the attractions hereforce only found in the magazine with a correct and fresh news summary such day. This great organization has grown to be one of the wonders of the age, having its agents in every part of the habitable globe, whence over cable and land telegraph lines, the newspapers of the Associatios are instently informed of every important event at home and abroad. The White is the only morning paper in Eastern Maine to receive these despatches, now recognized as indispensable to a live daily paper, and as it is sont by mail on the early morning haders the latest news up to the moment of going to press. In addition to this it has its corps of special correspondents throughout the State and elsewhere. This winter its columns will be particularly interesting on account of the seasion of the Legislature at Augusta, where we shall have a special Representative, as well as the civeling session or the Fifty-First Congress, the work of which is of so smech importance as to make the daily reported of great value. Its telegraphic columns give faily questioned of the Fidancial sur Produce mart etc. In the complete in each fetall, while the Maine News column gives a daily summary of current events in every section of the State. "How use it possible?" Ten o'clock had come so had the court, so had the public, a numbers largely increased. In Central City it was generally understood that on this day the proceedings would be brought to a close. The case for the government would be concluded by the evidence of Mr Abrame—when he artired—and by the exhibition of the books of the late concern of Braine & Co. Pheidefence really had not a leg to stand on. Everyreally had not a leg to stand on. Every-body in the enterprising community had heen assured of this fact by the repeated assertions of Mr Schonberg and the assertions or air secondoring and the oracular announcements of the press, and it was the popular belief that all the infortunate officer could do trouble to assail the integrity of the witnesses, which attempt would be unterly overthrown by the vigilant prospector who would then conclude by a scathing rewould then conclude by a scathing review of the evidence after which the court would promptly adjudge him guilty and seatence him to be stripped of his uniform and drummed out forth-

"I will take all responsibility, sir.
You may be sure the accused will not injure them," was Grace's prompt and indignant rejoinder.
And so, having interfered as long as possible, the lawyer grudgingly handed the book to Mr. Hearn, estentatiously holding it open so that all mear at hand could see the array of items and figures charged against him In doing so he even raised the volume to the level of his own shoulder, and the leaf flapped lazily open until it stood in bold relief. Never moving from her scat Miss Marshall, with glowing eyes and compressed lips, had silently noted every word and motion. She was bending forward eagerly, as though striving at a distance of six or seven feet to decipher the writing on the page thus glaringly exhibited. When finally Lawler laid it on the table, and Mr. Hearn began slowly studying the page, she still retained her position. Forgetful apparently of everything around her the young gul was now so near that she could have touched the table at which sat the ac-terial strength of the finances of the Comany must of itself be satisfactory to policy-holders. It will be noted by reference to the Schedule of Assets annexed hereto that the Company has $1,376,754 66 invested in mortgages and only $1,440 overdue interest on same. ASSETS, LIABILITIES, SURPLUS.

The Assets, as per Schedule appended, are $6,206,018 84. The Company owes $106 375.23, which includes claims of every description; while the value of its policy obligations, computed in accordance with the highest standard known to the law, is $5,767,177, leaving a Surplus over Liabilities of every description of $332,466.61. RECOGNITION OF LIABILITY.

As we remarked last year, it is the practice of the Union MUTUAL to treat as a liablilty all death claims of which notices have been received during the year, just as fully as if the papers were filed, and the claims approved. In the foregoing liabilities, the sum of $8,026 55 unpaid deathclaims, is of that nature. REAL ESTATE.

The Company has continued its policy of accumulating a large portion of its OATS funds in what are known as "quick assets," namely, Bonds, Stocks, and other Se-curities of like kind, more than one-half of will be found in the following exhibits:— large decline in Securities in general dur-nusmass Programs.— large decline in Securities in general dur-ing the years 1889 and 1890, we are still The steady and conservative growth of able to report a satisfactory showing in MORTALITY EXPERIENCE. The care exercised by the Company in its selection of risks, is best shown by its Mortality Experience. As well known, the law of averages is the fundamental basis of Insurance, and while it is impossible in this connection to accept any isolated year's result, as a criterion, the average of several years is never failing. During the past three years, the Company's Mortality Experience has been $210,385.26 within the TableRates of expected deaths, or an average profit of $70,128.42 per year.

and as confirming the statement made in our report of last year, "the policy of the present administration still points in the direction of maintaining the internal affairs of the Company in strict harmony with sound business principles; and that end being attained, it is intended to apply future energies largely to the procurement of new business. Such a policy if pursued to its legitimate conclusion must lead to increased business." The foregoing exhibits demonstrate that the Company's business policy has been thoroughly suc-DOMESTICA".

Briefly stated, a comparison with the igures of the preceding year shows the following regular: INCREASED NUMBER OF NEW POLICIES INCREASED NEW INSUBANCE WRITTEN.
